It gives a structure and language to tasks I do daily at work. Engaging in discussions with other classmates about topics help us learn more about the subject.

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

Work in teams to do a project is an important skill to develop. However, an online course where students are geographically separated and with conflicting schedules makes it hard to achieve.

1. Your perceptions of the strenghts of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments helped you to learn the content or the skills required in this course.

The power points and discussions do great for teaching new concepts, but the quizes seem lacking.

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

I think that having online videos seems necessary to try and get everyone to follow along with lectures. People can save those videos in the future for reference when working with systems and analysis design. I think that the final doesn't translate well in an online course.

P.S. With the discussions, it is probably a little unneccessary to ask what the gender pronoun of a student wants to be prefered to as. It is supposed to be a academic setting and if a student wants to announce it, that is fine, but it seems a little awkward to ask them in the intro. Every human being should be happy with what the identify as, but it shouldn't be as an intro in an online internet course.

3. Your opinion of the overall effectiveness of this course. What sugesstions, if any, do you have for helping the intructor to imporve the teaching methods and assignments in this course?

I would suggest on improving student feedback and helping them understand in depth of a certain project, especially in midterms/finals. Please make online lectures as they are very valuable for reference material. Try and be more consistint in grading.

1. Your perceptions of the strengths of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments helped you to learn the content or the skills required in this course?

This is my first coding class, so often things we cover in class are so foreign to me that I rely heavily on textbook, Coral's jupyter Notebooks, & the suggested internet videos to understand anything. I would ask more questions in class than I do, but many times I am not sure if I understand something until I try to build it on my own. Homeworks are helpful for that - Being thrown into the fire. I just wish we had double the class time/week.

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

Sometimes Coral makes assumptions & Logical jumps on Jupyter Notebooks & in class that miss me. The subject matter is very difficult & foreign to a new CS student, moving slower would benefit me.

3. Your opinion of the overall effectiveness of this course. What suggestions, if any, do you have for helping the instructor to improve the teaching methods and assignments in this course?

I'm definitely a better prosam than I was 7 weeks ago! Given that Python I is a weekly class I understand that we have to move at such a pace to complete everything. Though, it is difficult to find feedback on submitted homework assignments. I don't really know what I am doing right or wrong.

The overal structure & mechanics are solid, the classroom lectur is somewhat fragmented or not cohesive at times. the professor is clefinelly trying hard to build a good expesuence. the use of jupyter notebooks has been very helpful.

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

The newness of the class & Book offer challenges, but that is the nature of the time & place.

Some variation of classroom teaching methods would be useful. class room time for homework seems like it would be helpful

but I find it hard to do towards the end

3. Your opinion of the overall effectiveness of this course. What suggestions, if any, do you have for helping the instructor to improve the teaching methods and assignments in this course?

overall the syllabus is good, the strategy is good. Professor sheldon is passionate & wants students to succeed but needs to slow down a bit and stay on topic, better verbal cohesion would be helpful, but she is actively working on this.

1. Your perceptions of the strengths of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments helped you to learn the content or the skills required in this course?

I really appreciate Coral's enthusiasm for the subject and how she sets asides time to work through problems at the end. The assignments are rightfully challenging but she never allows students to struggle. Instead she provides constructive feedback and patient support to help ensure concepts are understood and enforces their place in the larger scope of the course

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

This has nothing to do with Coral's ability to teach the course. I would prefer having maybe a two day per week class with shorter class times (~2hrs). The material is confusing since it's so new and a brand new way of thinking to someone unfamiliar with coding so the more exposure the better.

3. Your opinion of the overall effectiveness of this course. What suggestions, if any, do you have for helping the instructor to improve the teaching methods and assignments in this course?

This course is incredibly effective, having tried self-teaching of online courses I can say this is the best way to learn. The supportive and knowledgeable environment Coral created is invaluable towards growth in the subject and professionally.

1. Your perceptions of the strengths of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments helped you to learn the content or the skills required in this course?

The multitude of practical coding assignments is very helpful, combined with thoughtful and systematic instruction and the use of Jupyter notebooks to allow live demonstrations of course content.

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

NO weaknesses.

3. Your opinion of the overall effectiveness of this course. What suggestions, if any, do you have for helping the instructor to improve the teaching methods and assignments in this course?

Highly effective, Professor Sheldan-Hess is a thoughtful and engaged instructor. They clearly care deeply about helping students learn and they use a variety of teaching methods and exercises to explain the concepts. They also effectively model coding best practices around troubleshooting and create a safe environment to ask questions & seek help.

1. Your perceptions of the strengths of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments helped you to learn the content or the skills required in this course?

I'm never bored.
Class is quick and understandable. Homework offers stimulating challenges. Coral is always willing to help. The 1 - 1.5 hour time we get to work on assignments while she's physically there to help us, is valuable.

2. Your perceptions of the weaknesses of this course. What particular teaching methods or assignments were not helpful to you in learning? Why not?

Sometimes the class goes a bit too fast. Some concepts are difficult to grasp, so pausing for questions more often would be ideal.

3. Your opinion of the overall effectiveness of this course. What suggestions, if any, do you have for helping the instructor to improve the teaching methods and assignments in this course?
